Please type the following in terminal:

```
diskutil list

Then you might See a list of all partitions on your Boot drive. There will be a partition called "diskXs1" but instead of X it will be a number. Normaly this is 1. These Xs1 partitions are always the EFI partitions. So you type:

```
diskutil mount diskXs1
```

But again instead of X you type the correct idetifier of your efi partition. Then you will See it, believe me 😊
