Then please send us a picture of the error, where the text stops. So a picture of the last thing you see. And if it reboots automatically, you can try to make a video where you can see it. If we can see the error, it is much easier to find the error and correct the DSDT afterwards. Just by trying it will probably take us a very long time!

That's not work for me (CMD+V), i can't boot in verbose mode, only Reset NVRAM work.
