I again used a config-plist where Face Time works on my Hackintosh .... last year I used a serial number that belonged to a REAL MAC, I found this value on the internet ... was that why Am I now having trouble activating Imessage ...? Although even using this serial number of a REAL MAC only worked Face time and every month had to contact the support of Apple ...! Sorry, I'm using google translate .. so sometimes I can not understand what you say ...! Thanks for the help .. this forum is great to learn a lot here despite the language barrier .. I hope to understand you because of the language in portuguese and the translation ... another question what is better to use in hackintosh ..an account Or a standard user account. I await your help ...
