Sierra auf einem Lenovo E460

Beitrag von „ramzha“ vom 20. September 2018, 21:51

Hi everyone! Good evening. Can anyone give tips about the wifi+bt card purchase? As far as i know, E460 has the Wifi as m.2 extension card (pretty shitty because id rather use it for ssd) I know that BCM943602BAED fist nicely and works out of box. But it seems to be too expensive, any other variants which will work both in mac os and in Windows os. I see @Harper Lewis usin DW 1560, is High Sierra and Mojave supported on this card? And when i see them cards in aliexpress, they write in the decription (Fit all brand laptop, Not include Dell/HP / Lenovo). Is it okay or I need to choose a specific version? Secondly, when I finally install the card, do I need to repatch my DSDT/SSDT?

offtop: I generated a valid serial, to make all apple services to work, and confimed a purchase date in apple (do I needed that, if not should I generate another one?). Can I use my genuine (the one that in my Iphone and Ipad) AppleID, wont I get banned if anyone activates laptop with this serial?

SO much questions from me, thanks for answers in advance
