Can you have a look at PCI0.GPIO in IOReg and check if a driver loads?

Edit: Since APIC interrupt on your machine is 0x21 (less than 0x2F) VoodooI2C should work using that and there should be no need to change values with setup_var. _CRS patches will be necessary, tough.

I know. But I would like to have touchpad without any patch at all. And I think GPIO is better.
