

Kann ich Mavericks auf einen I5 4570, einer GTX 1050ti und einem Asus B85M-E installieren?

Ich zitiere: "TINU" kann nicht geöffnet werden, da Apple darin nicht nach Schadsoftware suchen kann.

Und was kann ich mit meinem Installstick versuchen?

This message appears only because TINU is not code signed, the problem with code signing is that it requires a paid developer account and it alone costs 100$/Year.

I am the creator of TINU, but since i can't afford the paid developer account, i just published it as unsigned. But i guarantee you that if i had a paid account i could just take the exact same software i published and code sign it. Code-signing just makes sure no one, besides the owner of the apple id that signed the app, has modified the app after it has been published.

Also don't worry TINU will not harm your mac, and you can see everything it does on your computer since it is a free and open source app build from the ground up by me without using external proprietary programs.
