A user ask for help and I have answered to him (he does not see that option in his boot menu)

Then, you say he must know and do a lecture also to me assuming I do not know how to read OpenCore documentation...

and should I be cocky?

Get off the throne you built yourself

or am I still paying for the threadripper thing? 😛

PS

I don't understand if you have a moderating role in this forum, do you always feel entitled to treat users badly for this?
