This is a very clear allusion to a woman who sells the "New Way" on YouTube as her own achievement....

The reference itself came from Gabriel's Discord channel. He didn't mean anything else by that.

Thank you for this..

But in my country we say this:

"Non e' tutto oro quello che luccica" (all that glitters is not gold)

the lady is clearly unpleasant in ways and does it to make money

But she started virtualization much earlier than others

The same channel to which reference is made also taken a lot from other parties but giving credits "at random"

Honestly I participate in this thread because it is right to make non-expert users understand what the youtube lady is and does and my efforts focused solely on making public how to make a trx40 platform works with Proxmox VE

However, many people have embezzled things that were on the web before the lady herself

Without any controversy with the people of this wonderful forum and thread!

As for the script, we created one in late 2019 after one of the leading OpenCore developers

(downloadfritz) told me on insanelymac that the kernel patches for my system were "borked"

With that script you had the chance to download an EFI for Proxmox (opencore / clover) and a recovery or a full installer to use as iso for Proxmox , and this for free without even the need to offer a coffee 😊

However it is always interesting to see how news is transmitted on the web, especially when you have experienced it firsthand!

Thank you all for your patience in accepting an Italian who writes in English in your forum
