hi, i didn't put the patch in the thread on purpose as i don't recommend anyone to try ventura if you are happy with your amd system

If you want, post only the config you are using and that produces that block that I see in the picture

Remember that you must use a New OpenCore (082)

To be honest I haven't even tried to leave with an old one ..

In my case, the new patch and most likely the quirk to be disabled produce an error when the machine wakes up from sleep

It has usually worked well here before
