Please explain why the answer to life, the universe and everything is 42.

The answer to life, the universe, and everything being 42 is a concept introduced in the science fiction novel "The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy" by Douglas Adams.

In the story, a hyper-intelligent race of beings builds a supercomputer named Deep Thought to determine the answer to the ultimate question of life, the universe, and everything. After seven and a half million years of calculations, Deep Thought finally gives the answer: 42.

However, the characters in the story are disappointed because they do not know what the actual question was that led to the answer 42. Therefore, the joke is that the answer to the ultimate question is meaningless without knowing the question itself.

Douglas Adams has stated that he chose the number 42 arbitrarily, and it has no particular significance or hidden meaning. He just thought it was a funny and absurd answer to a profound question. The number has since become a popular meme and cultural reference, often used in humorous or ironic contexts.
