That´s a pretty odd problem cause normally the screen stays either entire dark or comes full on but never only shows a mouse pointer and notification center alerts...
How does your screen connect to your video card (eg. HDMI, DVI or something else) and did you disable the iGPU or is it still enabled?

The solution is simple: press command+shift+Q and press enter. Then press first letter of your account name and press enter. After write account password and press enter.

That means you solved the problem on your own?
Great work... 🙂

I woull add the green "Solved"-Hook but you were already faster... 🙂
